Welcome to the School of Graduate Studies (SGS). The Essential Grad Guide is designed to provide you with an overview of the services that are available at SGS and the University of Toronto as a whole. At SGS, we strive to provide expert information and help regarding registration, fee payment, course enrolment, important deadlines, graduate awards and financial assistance, and resources for academic success. If you ever have questions, Student Services, located at 63 St. George Street, is a good place to start. I also encourage you to visit our website, where you will find lots of useful resources to help you be successful in your academic life, including the SGS Calendar, information about awards and funding, academic integrity, policies and guidelines for graduate students, and how you can get involved. You will receive a monthly newsletter from SGS called ‘Gradschool e-News’ which contains important information about awards, events, activities, and other updates.

I also invite you to visit the Grad Room at 66 Harbord Street (at Spadina) – a comfortable space exclusively for U of T graduate students. It’s a great place to interact socially and to study. At Grad Room you have access to a multi-purpose space for graduate student programming. You can also learn more about the Graduate Professional Skills (GPS) Program, which provides graduate students a range of opportunities for skills development.

Please accept my best wishes for a successful and enjoyable academic year.

Lucy Fromowitz
Assistant Vice-President, Student Life

As you begin this new phase of your academic life, you’ll soon discover that U of T offers a world of opportunity and a chance for you to pursue many diverse interests.

You are part of an academic community in which you will deepen your learning and be able to conduct research with internationally distinguished faculty. You are also part of a larger community that is deeply embedded in the culture of the Greater Toronto Area.

You and your colleagues will find that U of T is a place where you can follow your passions both within and beyond your classes and research, whether they are cultural pursuits, sports, international opportunities or community service.

Look through this book to discover the many services or programs that can help you make your time at U of T fulfilling, academically, professionally and personally. The staff at SGS and in Student Life are here to provide opportunities and support you throughout your academic career.

3 steps to getting started

1. clear conditions

   Your SGS offer of admission letter outlines important information about your program, including conditions which must be satisfied before you may register. If you’re unsure about how to clear your conditions, contact your graduate unit.

“Know what resources are available to you. Talk to your graduate administrators to get information on program requirements, funding, and important dates. Check the SGS website for information on managing your program and resources to assist with academic success, like the writing centre.”

Daiva
Nutritional Sciences
enrol and register

What is the difference between enrolment and registration? To enrol, you add yourself to courses. To register, you pay your tuition and incidental fees, or register without payment (defer fees).

enrolment
Enrolment occurs when you add yourself to courses. Most graduate units allow students to enrol in courses through the Student Web Service (www.rosi.utoronto.ca); however, some graduate units require students to fill out a form. Consult your home graduate unit for detailed instructions and the SGS Sessional Dates for course enrolment deadlines: uoft.me/CourseEnrolment

registration
To register on time, pay your tuition and incidental fees or register without payment (defer your fees) by September 12 (if you are starting in September) or January 9 (if you are starting in January).

Instructions on how to pay tuition fees (including a fee payment from outside of Canada) are found at www.fees.utoronto.ca. To find out how much you owe, check your invoice at www.rosi.utoronto.ca.

You may request to register without payment (i.e. fee deferral) through the Student Web Service (www.rosi.utoronto.ca) as long as:
- you have no outstanding fees from a previous session
- you are the recipient of one of the following which exceeds the Minimum Payment to Register amount on your invoice:
  - OSAP loan
  - other provincial government loan;
  - US government loan
  - University funding package (major award, research stipend or teaching stipend).

If you are registering late, come to the SGS Student Services office to register without payment in person (late registration fees will be assessed).

late registration
If you have not registered by the deadline, your enrolment in courses will be cancelled and further enrolment through the Student Web Service (ROS) will be blocked. After September 12 (fall/winter sessions) or January 9 (winter session) you must provide proof of payment and register at the SGS Student Services office. A late registration fee of $44, plus $5 per additional day to a maximum of $94, will be charged.
3 get your TCard, UTORid and UTmail+

Your TCard (uoft.me/tcard) is your access card for services on campus. Government-issued photo ID and your offer of admission letter are required to obtain your TCard. Email service, wireless network, and access to the Learning Portal will be available upon receipt of your TCard and authentication of your UTORid. You can obtain your TCard from the following locations:

St. George campus:
Robarts Library
Room 2054A, 130 St. George St.

Mississauga campus:
William G. Davis Building
Room 2122, 3359 Mississauga Rd.

Scarborough campus:
University of Toronto Scarborough Library
1265 Military Trail

Once you have your TCard, you can activate your UTORid and get your UTmail+ account by visiting: uoft.me/UTORid

Geography
The Graduate Awards Office (GAO) at SGS provides administrative support for a wide range of scholarship and financial aid programs. Whether you are applying for a scholarship or you are seeking financial support to attend a conference, the GAO can provide advice and assistance.

Financial counselling is also available through the GAO to assist you with managing educational expenses, budgeting and planning. Our financial counsellor can provide information and direction on various financial aid programs such as student loans, University of Toronto grants, and other opportunities. Counselling may be provided in person, via email, or by telephone.

resources for international students

If you’ve just arrived in Canada, make your first stop at U of T the Centre for International Experience (CIE): cie.utoronto.ca. Staff and student volunteers can help you find temporary and permanent housing, introduce you to fellow students, get you oriented and more. They’ll even store your luggage temporarily.

The CIE also offers a number of orientation activities that run from mid-August to mid-September. These include information seminars, workshops, field trips, and cultural events.

legal status and fees

If you are an international student and your legal status changes, you may be eligible for a “Status in Canada” exemption. Please bring your original documents to SGS Student Services so that we may make the change.

changes to legal status must be made by the following deadlines:

- November 1 for reassessment for the complete fall and winter session
- February 1 for the reassessment for the winter session only
- June 30 for reassessment for the complete summer session (only applies to students who are charged tuition fees for the summer session)

If you are unable to provide the required documentation by these deadlines, you must pay the international tuition rate.

family resources

Many grad students juggle family responsibilities, such as childcare or eldercare. There are extensive resources to help including workshops and discussion groups for student parents.

U of T has several licensed childcare centres on its campuses – there’s a waitlist for space, so apply early.

“...I’ve found Hart House to be a wonderful place for balancing work with fun activities. Grad Escapes is another great way to get out and see Toronto and meet fellow grad students.”
