Admissions:
75% Liberal Arts and Science Guideline

- Admission to master’s programs: An appropriate bachelor’s degree with high academic standing from a recognized university

- Current wording: When assessing undergraduate degrees that do not have a counterpart at the University of Toronto (e.g., B.F.A. from York University, four-year B.Ed. from Memorial University), take into account the liberal arts and science courses when considering equivalency. The degree should have roughly 75% liberal arts and science credits.

- New wording: When assessing the appropriateness of an applicant’s transcript, graduate units should ensure that the admitting degree contains a sufficiently strong and balanced representation of liberal arts and science academic content as preparation for successful graduate studies in the specific discipline. The assessment of that balance and decision to admit is done at the level of the graduate unit. If the unit considers the transcript to have a sufficient balance, no further approval from SGS is required.
