Congratulations

You did it!

Congratulations to all the doctorate and master's students who will be awarded their degrees at November Convocation 2014. Graduate ceremonies are scheduled November 17-21. The schedule is posted on the Office of Convocation website.

services for alumni

Stay connected to U of T

You may have finished your education here, but you can still share your pride in being affiliated with the University of Toronto. After you graduate, your student email address will change to your.name@alum.utoronto.ca. You can continue to access your alumni account with your UTORid and password. Messages sent to your student email account will be forwarded to your alumni account for two years after graduation so you have ample time to alert your contacts.

Set up your alumni email account by following the instructions at Alumni E-mail.

Opening Doors – to a career outside academia

Considering a career outside of academia? The School of Graduate Studies presents a series of panel discussions with U of T alumni and non-academics who will share their career narratives and answer your questions. Four Opening Doors events are to be held, one a week throughout November, for students in the Social Sciences, Humanities, Physical Sciences and Life Sciences respectively.
Career Centre services

Career Centre services continue to be available to you as a recent U of T graduate. Access an extensive database of full-time employment listing, get help with career planning, creating powerful C.V.s, cover letters and interview preparation.

Looking for academic opportunities? Register with the Graduate Dossier Service (GDS). The Graduate Dossier Service is provided for University of Toronto doctoral students to aid their academic job search. The main function of the service is to act as a depository for confidential letters of reference but can also contain transcripts. The service will then forward these documents to institutions offering academic employment as requested by the registrant.

If you are an international student, the post-graduation employment program may be for you. It is designed to provide you with up to three years of Canadian work experience in your field of study after you graduate from U of T.

More education in your future?

Graduation doesn’t have to mark an end to your educational journey. The School of Continuing Studies (SCS) offers more than 500 classroom-based and online courses as well as multi-course certificate programs, many of which lead to professional accreditation. The School of Continuing Studies is pleased to offer each new graduate a credit of up to $600.00 towards an SCS course of their choice. The offer is valid for 18 months following your convocation. For more information call 416-978-2400 or drop by 158 St. George Street.

Benefits of being a U of T alumni

The benefits and rewards of going to the University of Toronto continue long after your learning ends. After you graduate you can continue to take advantage of U of T’s athletics facilities and clubs at Hart House and the Athletic Centre and access at discounted rates to the U of T Libraries after you graduate. The university can also connect you to reputable companies that offer services that may interest you, such as home or health insurance.

See the world with Alumni Travel

The Alumni Travel Program is your gateway to inspiring and enriching experiences across the globe. U of T trips are popular because they illuminate different peoples, cultures and environments. You’ll have opportunities to directly engage with residents of foreign locales and learn about their way of life. Let your wanderlust take you to wonderful places as you navigate the globe with U of T.
